

ROWAN MIRANDA, Ph.D. '83

ASSOCIATE IN ARTS

Rowan Miranda graduated from College of DuPage with his Associate in Arts degree in accounting in 1982. He holds two degrees from University of Illinois Chicago: a Bachelor of Science degree in accounting (1984) and a Master's degree in political science and government (1986), as well as two degrees from University of Chicago: a Master's degree in public policy analysis/public finance (1987) and a Doctor of Philosophy degree in public policy analysis (1992). Miranda has worked as a chief financial officer in city and county governments and in higher education and has a wealth of knowledge in the areas of government strategy, finance and administration. He also has held teaching positions at the University of Illinois Chicago, the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Mellon University and the University of Chicago. Miranda is a published author on various subjects, including public budgeting, taxation and economic development finance. He currently is employed as a senior managing partner of government strategy at Workday, Inc., leading the company's public sector strategy.